ALLEN W. DULLES—The late Allen W. Dulles, once director of the Central Intelligence agency, was a native of Watertown, son of the late Rev. Dr. and Mrs. Allen Macy Dulles. His brother, the late John Foster Dulles, secretary of state under President Dwight D. Eisenhower, was not a native of Watertown, since Mrs. Allen Macy Dulles remained in Washington, D. C., until his birth, while Rev. Dr. Dulles assumed the pastorate of Watertown's First Presbyterian church.

READY TO LEAVE—Former Central Intelligence Agency Director Allen W. Dulles and Mrs. Clover Todd Dulles left Watertown Municipal airport July 11, 1962 for Washington, D. C., after spending two weeks at Henderson Harbor. Like his brother, the late John Foster Dulles, secretary of state under President Dwight D. Eisenhower, Allen Dulles was a frequent visitor to northern New York.

ONE FISHERMAN TO ANOTHER—The late Allen W. Dulles, left, one-time director of the Central Intelligence agency, discussed fishing with then seven-year-old Thomas Manning on Sept. 9, 1960, as he prepared for an outing on Lake Ontario over the weekend with the boy's father, Dr. James A. Manning of Rochester. Mr. Dulles was a guest of his brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. James S. Seymour of New Hartford, at "Greylodge," their summer home at Henderson Harbor. Dr. Manning's wife is a daughter of another sister of Mr. Dulles, Mrs. Deane Edwards of Rye.
